SAYS THREATS CAUSE ACTION

Tom Alsmann of Arlington Files Insanity Proceedings Against His Sister-in-Law, Flora Williams.

PHYSICIANS EXAMINE HER

Declares She Threatened to Kill the Whole Family and Put Coal Oil in Coffee Pot.

Charging that his sister-in-law, who lives in his house, had threatened to kill him and every member of his family; had put coal oil in the lard can and the coffee pot; had put salt in the pie and had carried carbolic acid into the house to carry out her dastardly purpose, Tom Alsmann of Arlington filed insanity proceedings against Flora Williams of Arlington in Squire Kratzer's court today. Sheriff Clara Bebout went to Arlington this morning and brought Miss Williams before the squire this afternoon. The trial was still in progress at a late hour this afternoon.

Squire Kratzer appointed Drs. W. S. Coleman, Lowell M. Green and A. G. Shauck of Arlington, county coroner, to sit at an insanity commission to decide her sanity. They conducted the investigation, questioning her concerning the threats she had made and the life she had led in Arlington. Miss Williams denied all of the allegations, including the one that she had written a news letter to the Daily Republican from Arlington, purporting to be from the regular correspondent. The letter was slandering and slipped through in the rush of going to press.

Mr. Alsmann, who brought the proceedings, said this afternoon that his sister-in-law had done all that he charged and then some. He said that she arose at two o'clock this morning and threatened all sorts of things. He declared that she had said she would kill him, his wife and his four-weeks-old baby and he feared that she would carry it out. Mr. Alsmann said that he had stood the outrage as long as he could and that he filed proceedings at once. Mr. Alsmann says that insanity proceedings were filed against Miss Williams about five years ago by her sister, Mrs. John Innis, of this city, but that she was not proved insane.

WEEK OF PRAYER TO CLOSE

Last Meeting at the St. Paul M. E. Church Tonight.

The last of the week-of-prayer union services will be held at the St. Paul M. E. church this evening. The services have been well attended and the pastors of the city are highly elated over the success of the attempt. The Rev. V. W. Tevis preached at the service at the Main Street Christian church last night and pleased one of the largest audiences of the week.

MORE THAN $3,000,000.

Indiana's ninety-two counties paid more than $3,000,000 into the State treasury during the year 1910. Saturday afternoon the last county auditor made his final settlement with State Auditor O'Brien, showing that a total of $3,101,211.71 of State taxes had been collected by the counties during the year.

TRIAL SEASON TO BE HERE

Former Local Horseman May Train on Rushville Track.

Frank A. Lackey and Curtis Gosnell, the Cambridge City horsemen, have purchased from Mat Quay estate stable of horses, in Italy, the high-bred show stallion, Alation, by Alerton, 2:09 1/4, dam Stray Moments, by Nutwood; second dam by Totsey, by Mambrino Transport; third dam, Lucia, by Hambletonian. Alation has never been raced, but has shown trials in 2:09 1/4 and is a square sure trotter. He will be trained on the famous Lackey track and will be raced next fall, after a trial season at Cambridge City and Rushville.

HEAR REPORT FROM FEW STRAGGLERS

County Superintendent George Gets Word From Orange and Noble Township Bees.

BOYS FIGURE IN THE RESULTS

As the days draw nearer to the time for the county spelling bee, when the three best spellers will be selected to represent Rush county in the Sixth district bee, the few straggling townships, where the preliminary bees have been held, are reporting the results to the county superintendent.

Today Mr. George received the report from Orange township, where the contest was conducted by Solon E. Tevis. The delegates are Tom Alter, Carrie Brown and Ethel Herbert. The alternates are Ora Cameron, Elmer Owen and Ivy Comely.

In Noble township the bee was held by Ralph Peck, teacher in the New Salem schools. The delegates there are Ruth Simpson, Harley Austin and Marian Tittsworth. The alternates are Dewey Stewart and Russell Tittsworth.

BELIEVE SCHOOL DOES NOT EXIST

Muncie Police Hold Two Colored Men Who Came Here in Interests of Cain Industrial Institution.

BELIEVE THEY'RE IMPOSTERS

Two colored men, who have often visited here and who were in Rushville only recently collecting funds for the Cain Industrial school in Indianapolis are held by the Muncie police, pending an investigation. It is believed in Muncie that the Rev. E. Cain, founder and president of the school, and his partner have been working a fake scheme, and are attempting to learn if such a school is in existence. If the school is not in Indianapolis, many Rushville people have been duped because a large sum of money has been subscribed here each year for the support of the school. Local colored people say that the school is operating and that it is doing good work. They are greatly incensed to think that the Muncie police interfered.

AWAIT DECISION CLUB MEETS TO BOOST FACTORY WITH INTEREST

Appealed Case From Marion Circuit Court Attracts Local Sheriff, Clerk and Former Officials.

PENDING IN SUPREME COURT

Verdict Will Determine Whether "In and Out" Transcript Fees May be Retained.

There is a case now pending in Indianapolis in the supreme court which is of general interest to every county sheriff and every clerk of a circuit court in the State, and in particular to Sheriff Clara Bebout, Clerk Verne Norris and all former Rush county sheriffs and clerks. The suit is to determine whether or not sheriffs have a right to retain "in and out" fees for their own use and clerks of the circuit court have a right to retain transcript fees for their own use.

The two question involved are ones which have been worrying the minds of sheriffs and clerks in Rush county for many years past. The interpretation of the law by several judges that have passed on it has always changed it so that the officials are continually up in the air. They can never tell, if they are retaining these fees, but what a decision may be made in a few days which will exactly reverse a former verdict.

At present the case of Jacob Woessner et al. against Henry W. Bullock is pending in the supreme court. The case was appealed to the supreme court from the Marion circuit court by Jacob Woessner, who is at present sheriff of Marion county and who was re-elected last November. Woessner believes that he is entitled to "in and out" fees since sheriffs all over the State have put that interpretation on the law and are collecting the fees for their own use. The Marion county board of commissioners refused to give them to Woessner, hence the suit. When this decision is had, it will be the first one that was ever handed down from the State supreme bench on that particular law. The other decisions have all come from the appellate bench.

The question of "in and out" and transcript fees has long been an open one and has caused considerable discussion. In the legislature of 1907 a law was proposed and finally passed, providing that sheriffs should be allowed to collect "in and out" fees and that clerks should be allowed to retain transcript fees. The law was sent to the governor, vetoed and hung over until the last session of the legislature, 1909, when it was passed over the governor's head, so that the sheriffs and clerks now have a right to collect such fees and retain them.

As is shown by appellate court decisions, the law concerning the two classes of fees has been decidedly changeable. In 1901, Judge Myer in the appellate court decided that sheriffs and clerks could retain their fees. In 1906, the same judge granted a rehearing in the same case and reversed his own decision, which put an entirely different complexion on the law.

CLUB MEETS TO BOOST FACTORY

Marion Business Men Join to Arrange to Locate Joint Scott-Madden Foundry.

ONE TO GO FROM RUSHVILLE

And Will be Combined With Keokuk, Iowa, Plant if Plans do Not Miscarry.

As was published exclusively in the Daily Republican recently, the Scott-Madden foundry in this city will be combined with the much larger plant, owned by the same firm, which is now in Keokuk, Iowa, if the Marion commercial club can sell thirty thousand dollars worth of preferred stock in the concern. The Marion boosters are making every effort and are straining every nerve to raise the desired amount, so that the very desirable plant may become a part of their up-to-date city, which is already thriving with many industries. The plant will probably move out from under the very nose of Rushville business men, when it is said to be one of the best propositions which has ever been offered to the city.

The Scott-Madden company does not ask a bonus of Marion, nor did it ask a bonus of Rushville. In Marion the business men are to subscribe for thirty-thousand dollars worth of preferred stock. In Rushville the firm only asks that ten thousand dollars worth of preferred stock be subscribed for, to locate the two plants here. They already have a spacious building here, but the location of the two plants would necessitate more room. In Marion the Scott-Madden concern has a contract to move into the old Ball Brothers' glass plant building which is more than five times as large as the space which they need. They agreed to pay for the building in preferred stock, the stock to be taken up at so much a year, after the expiration of five years.

The Marion Chronicle says of a boosters' meeting to be held there to make arrangements for the local factory:

A mass meeting of all the business men and citizens of Marion who are interested in locating the Scott-Madden Iron Works company's combined factory in Marion has been called for Thursday evening. The meeting will be held in the parlors of the Marion Commercial club, and it is hoped that they will be taxed to their fullest capacity. In order to locate this big factory in Marion it is necessary to sell $30,000 worth of preferred stock by next Tuesday, January 10. If the required amount of stock is not sold by that time the city will lose a factory which would give employment to more than 150 persons.

Mr. Wiley of the Commercial club says that the factory is the first one Marion has had an opportunity of securing without costing the city something, and is of the opinion that the people of the city should put forth every effort possible to locate the Scott-Madden plant here in Marion. The standing and reliability of the company have been thoroughly looked into by the members of the Commercial club, who pronounce them of the best, and report that the security is three to one. The stock is not taxable, and the company pays a 6 per cent dividend semi-annually. Under the terms entered into between the Commercial club and the company, the company agrees to begin the redeeming of the preferred stock at the end of five years from date, and redeem it at a specific rate until all has been taken up.

As to whether this factory will be brought to Marion or not is up to the citizens and they will be given an opportunity to decide the matter if they attend the meeting to be held Thursday evening.

Mr. Wiley said Tuesday: "We have received much encouragement, but more assistance is necessary. Up to this time there has been no particular work done by the Commercial club, but a systematic effort to sell the preferred stock will be made by the committee tomorrow and all the business men will be visited."

OLD WAR VETERAN DIES IN MILROY

Frank Spaulding, 72 Years Old, Expires at Home of His Daughter of Liver Trouble.

TWO CHILDREN SURVIVE HIM

Frank Spaulding, 72 years old, a well known man of Milroy, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bertha Bennett in Milroy last evening about 6:45 o'clock. He had been suffering with liver complaint for about six years and that disease finally caused his death. Mr. Spaulding is a pioneer of Rush county, having been born and reared within its borders. He resided in the vicinity of Moscow and Milroy all of his life with the exception of the time that he was in the civil war. The deceased is survived by two children, Mrs. Bertha Bennett, with whom he lived in Milroy, and Harry Spaulding of Moscow. His wife died about one year ago. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

ORPHANS HOME HAS GOOD START

Henry County Now Owns Spiceland Institution With Miss Cora Shelly in Charge.

RUSH COUNTY PAYS SAME SUM

Henry county now owns the orphans' home property at Spiceland and the new matron, Miss Cora Shelly, is in full charge, says the New Castle Times. The new state of affairs had an auspicious beginning and all interested are confident that the home in every way will prove satisfactory and the belief is general that the county did a wise act in purchasing the property.

There are at the present time a total of thirty-four children at the home. Of this number twenty-one are from Henry county and the other thirteen children are from Rush county. Miss Shelly will be paid by Henry county and will receive twenty-five cents per day for the care of each child in the home.

The children from Rush county will be cared for as was done by the late Mrs. Bundy. The county will pay Henry county thirty-five cents and as Miss Shelly will receive twenty-five cents the county will derive ten cents per day for each child as a revenue from the investment of $8,400 in the purchase of the home property.

WOULD CREATE ROAD OFFICIAL

T. A. Coleman, in an Address Before Farmers Institute, Advanced New Theory.

HE PROPOSED LEGISLATION

Gave a New Plan in Road Building Which Will be Used Against Automobile Dealers.

Probably the most interesting feature of the Rush county farmers institute, which began a two days' session in this city today, was the talk given by T. A. Coleman on "Improvement of Highways." Mr. Coleman is a prominent farmer of this county and is chairman of the committee appointed from the Federated Agricultural Association to oppose certain road legislation, proposed for this session of the legislature.

Mr. Coleman said that the recent good roads meeting in Indianapolis was nothing more than a meeting of the automobile manufacturers to gain improvements in road building beneficial to themselves and at the expense of the farmer. At this meeting they proposed a bill, which would create a road commission. The highways this commission would build would be paid for as follows: The State would pay one-half; the county one-fourth and the farmers whose land abutted the road, one-fourth. This would mean that the farmers, whose land was not on the road would not have to pay anything and would receive the same benefits as the man who was taxed his one-fourth of the total cost.

In this manner the money from Rush county would go to other parts of the State to help build roads and, as Mr. Coleman said, the only people who care about roads in other counties are the automobile owners. Mr. Coleman said he believed that every dollar raised in each township should be spent there and not elsewhere. If we are to have a road commission, then every automobile should be taxed according to the number of cylinders the machine has.

Mr. Coleman said the farmers have to do one of two things. The first is, to stand pat with the auto dealers and be made the victims of an unfair law, that would surely be passed if steps were not taken at once. The second would be to suggest some good plan which would be fair to all parties.

His plan, as he suggested it, met with favorable approval and will probably be brought before the legislature. Mr. Coleman would have a county superintendent of roads who would be a civil engineer and understand road building. This superintendent of roads would appoint the road supervisors and see that they did nothing else but keep the roads in good condition. He could at least keep the supervisors busy 200 days out of the year. Instead of paying $110,859.51 for road improvements as this county did, this plan would save the county money, according to Mr. Coleman, as there would be no county levy for roads.

Mr. Coleman's plan would be to have this new office created on the basis with other offices, the holder to be under bond. Rush county has fine roads, but he believed by this suggestion they could have better. This plan is original with Mr. Coleman and it is this that the farmers hope to offset the proposed legislation of the auto dealers.

Lesson II.—First Quarter, For Jan. 8, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xii, 25, to xiii, 6—Memory Verses, 28-30—Golden Text, Ex. xx, 4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

All the predictions and foreshadowings of Scripture and their fulfillments should be of the greatest possible interest to every child of God, and before we leave the story of Rehoboam we should notice that in the fifth year of his reign, or just about thirty-four years after the temple was completed, it was plundered by Shishak, king of Egypt. Compare I Kings vi, 38, and II Chron. xii, 2, 9. In John ii, 19-21, the Lord Jesus spoke of Himself as the temple and of His death and resurrection, and He must have been about thirty-four years of age when He was crucified.

In the lesson of today we are introduced to Jeroboam, son of Nebat, the first king of the ten tribes, and afterward spoken of over twenty times as the man who made Israel to sin, and this he did deliberately, although he had been told that the kingdom had been divided and part of it given to him because of this very sin of idolatry on the part of Solomon (chapter xi, 31-38). He had also been told that if he would do right in the sight of the Lord the Lord would be with him and build him a sure house.

He seems, however, to have had no confidence in the assurance of the Lord, but was afraid that if the people went to Jerusalem to offer sacrifice in the house of the Lord the kingdom would return to the house of David. So he took counsel and made two calves of gold, placing one in Bethel and one in Dan, for the people to worship and said, "Behold thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt" (verse 28). There is an evil one, the devil, who hates the living and true God and His word and His people and ever seeks to have people worship him instead of God. Whatever is not the worship of God is the worship of the devil and of demons, and all idolatry is of the devil (Deut. xxxii, 16, 17; I Cor. x, 20; Ps. cvi, 35-37). The great deceiver and enemy of God and man sought to have even the Son of God worship him and to that end offered him all the kingdoms of the world and the glory of them (Matt. iv, 8-10). He will ere this age closes, but after the church has been caught away, possess a man whom all the world will worship except those whose names are in the book of life (Rev. xiii, 4-8). This Jeroboam and all others from Cain onward to the antichrist of the last days, who do not believe God and therefore do believe the devil, are all one family and on their way to the place prepared for the devil and his angels (Matt. xxv, 41).

In verse 28 we read that the king took counsel, but it was certainly not of God, reminding us of Isa. xxx, 1, 2; viii, 9, 10, for it is only the counsel of the Lord that stands (Ps. xxxiii, 10, 11). The whole thing was a device of his own heart, like the false prophets of Jer. xxiii, 16, 26, whom the Lord did not send, and therefore the devil did. Three of the places mentioned in our lesson were places of the greatest possible interest to a child of God, and if Jeroboam had been such he could not but have profited greatly by the recollection of what had happened there. Two of them, Shechem and Bethel, would have reminded him of an altar unto the Lord and of the Lord's appearing to Abraham and to Jacob (Gen. xii and xxviii). At Peniel the Lord wrestled with Jacob, humbled him and gave him his new name of Israel, and Jacob said, "I have seen God face to face" (Gen. xxxii). At Shechem Joshua delivered his farewell address to Israel, which might have done Jeroboam good if he could have read it, for he greatly needed such words.

There also the body of Joseph was buried, which the children of Israel brought out of Egypt (Josh. xxiv). And there the Lord Jesus sat on Jacob's well and saved the woman of Samaria (John iv) and afterward many others. Dan was the northern boundary of the land, and Bethel was in the south of the ten tribes, so that Jeroboam might be said to have filled the land with idolatry from north to south. How fearful and horrible! (Jer. v, 30, 31). The prophet Ahijah was commissioned to tell Jeroboam by the mouth of his wife that because of his sin the Lord would root up Israel out of the land and scatter them beyond the river (chapter xiv, 12-16).

If an expression can be a key to a chapter, then chapter xiii is the greatest "man of God" chapter in the Bible, for the title is found there fifteen times, though the name of the man of God is not given.

It is a marvelous record and a most solemn warning not to believe even an angel nor a prophet, however venerable, if his testimony is contrary to the word of God. It may be that the Apostle Paul had it in mind when he, by the Spirit, wrote Gal. i, 8. In chapter xiii, 2, we have Josiah, the king, mentioned by name about 300 years before he was born, and the fulfillment of this prediction concerning him is recorded in II Kings xxiii, 15-17. May this prediction and fulfillment strengthen us to believe firmly that every prediction in Scripture shall be as literally fulfilled. Read carefully this wonderful chapter.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 8, 1911.

Topic.—Blessed-to bless.—Gen. xii, 1, 2; Ps. cviii, 1-3. (An evangelistic meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

When God called Abraham to leave his own country in Ur of the Chaldees and go to a land to which he would show him He made this promise to Abraham: "I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing. * * * In thee all families of the earth shall be blessed." Abraham was not to be blessed simply for his own sake, but that through him others might also receive blessings. He was blessed—to bless.

In the One Hundred and Seventh Psalm the writer says in the second and third verses, "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom He hath redeemed from the enemy and hath gathered them out of the lands—from the east and from the west, from the north and from the south." All the redeemed were to tell others of their redemption, with the purpose, of course, of leading them to redemption (redeemed—to redeem).

If we are the recipients of God's blessing we should be a blessing to others. If we have been redeemed we should redeem others by God's grace and power.

1. Blessed—to bless. This was one great purpose of God in blessing Abraham—namely, that he might bless others. The same is true of the blessing of God today. No blessing is bestowed upon us in a selfish or personal manner. It is to be passed on to others. If God has blessed us with wealth it is not to be miserly hoarded, but used for Him in such a way as to prove a blessing to others. If blessed with opportunities in life we should try to so use them as to be of assistance to others. If we have been given superior talents, use them also to the blessing of others. Above all things, if blessed with spiritual gifts of unusual quantity or quality find some way by which you may impart them to the less fortunately situated. Why God selects certain ones for special blessings we do not know, but one thing we do know, and that is that whosoever thus receives is intended to be a channel for imparting blessings to others.

2. Redeemed—to redeem. "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." Redemption in the sense of the soul's salvation by the death of Christ can only be of the Lord. There is no human redemption or eternal salvation. It is all divine. And in gratitude to God for our redemption we should tell it to others; we should "say so." "I've been redeemed" should be the song of every heart and the testimony of every tongue. We are saved to serve in the vineyard of the Lord, and if we are not by testimony or by Christian living leading some to Christ we may well take time to examine ourselves and see if we are redeemed and saved. The first thought of most people who have found Christ is to lead some one else to Him. Andrew found Him and went to his brother Peter and "brought him to Jesus." Are we following such an example?

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xviii, 16-18; xxviii, 1-4; Ps. lxxvi, 16; lxxli, 17-19; cv, 1-15; Dan. xii, 1-3; Matt. x, 42; xxv, 31-46; John i, 35-42; Acts iii, 25.

A Pastor's Testimony.

Sometimes ministers ask me why it is that they cannot get results in their Christian Endeavor societies, and I wonder how they would take it if I tried honestly to analyze the situation for them, for when all is said and done the important factor is the minister himself.

I realize full well that the young people are not always what they ought to be. If they were there would be no use for the ministers. When I hear of the failure of a society I ask, "How much sympathy, how much time, how much thought, did the pastor give to it?" It is not strange when societies fail that are neglected. The church would fail under similar circumstances.

I believe that any minister who is prepared to put thought and time and energy into his Christian Endeavor society will make a success of it. If he cannot succeed with his young people it is doubtful if he can succeed with the church that he serves.

The simple secret is this: Sow sympathy and love for the young people and you will harvest a crop of good.

Listen to the testimony of a man that has done this. Rev. Will F. Shaw, pastor of the Sheffield Avenue Church of Christ, Chicago, writes of his Endeavorers as follows:

"Christian Endeavor has furnished my soul winner class, my mission study class, my flower distributors, my choir and funeral singers, my Sunday evening workers and audiences, my Bible study and teachers' training class, my temperance agitators and supporters, my assistant correspondents, canvassers and advertisers, my first organized Sunday school class, my library keepers and book gatherers, my most regular attendants in every church service, my sympathizers in almost every advanced movement in the church work in every pastorate of my life."

There is no magic in this. The pastors of today will find that the boys and girls respond in Christian Endeavor work where they feel a warm interest on his part and a willingness to serve and help them.—Christian Endeavor World.

GREAT LEGAL BATTLE IS NOW BEING WAGED

Supreme Court Hearing Arguments in Trust Cases

Washington, Jan. 6.—With the case against the American Tobacco company, arguments in the supreme court on the great anti-trust cases brought by the government under the Sherman law, were begun this afternoon. Following the Tobacco case, which will last some days, arguments in the Standard Oil, the pure food and the corporation tax cases will be heard.

The attorney general and his assistants, the solicitor general and special counsel will conduct the cases for the government, while some of the most eminent lawyers in the country will argue on behalf of the corporations involved. On the outcome of these anti-trust cases will depend in a large measure the vitality of the Sherman anti-trust law. They will have a far-reaching effect upon business. The cases were argued last spring, but were restored to the docket for re-argument before a full court after the death of Justice Brewer.

The principal points to be decided in these cases hang largely upon the interpretation of what is "commerce"; what is "restraint" of trade or commerce; and what is the meaning of the words "to monopolize," as used in the Sherman anti-trust law.

The suit against the tobacco trust involves corporations representing assets worth more than $400,000,000. The lower court found that the corporations in the so-called trust had entered into a combination in restraint of trade.

WILL SKIP CROP

No Planting to Be Done This Year by Independent Tobacco Growers.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 6.—At a meeting of the independent association of white burley tobacco growers of Kentucky and adjoining states it was decided by vote that no crop be raised in 1911. This association is independent of the Burley Tobacco Society, of which Clarence Lebus is president and which has a large part of the 1909 crop pooled. The Burley society has as yet taken no action toward cutting out the 1911 crop. It will control about 45 per cent of the white burley, while the remainder will be pooled by the organization just organized.

Clothing Caught Fire.

Knightstown, Ind., Jan. 6.—When Frank Laster returned to his home after an absence of three-quarters of an hour, he found the interior of the house in flames. He thought of his aged mother, who was alone in the house, and rushed in and stumbled over her dead body near the door. It is thought her clothing caught fire while she was working about the stove.

To Provide Special Levy.

Indianapolis, Jan. 6.—The board of directors of the Commercial club has approved the bill drafted by the city board of health providing for a tax levy ranging from 10 cents to 15 cents on the hundred dollars, to create a fund for carrying on work of the health board.

POMERENE HAD EXACT NUMBER

No Votes to Spare In Getting Senatorial Plum.

WON OUT ON THE FIRST BALLOT

Though the Eleven Candidates in the Field Against Him Had Freely Predicted He Could Not Win, Canton Lawyer Romped Away With Ohio Senatorial Nomination, Showing Just the Required 45 Votes.

Columbus, O., Jan. 6.—To succeed Charles Dick, Atlee Pomerene of Canton, attorney at law and lieutenant governor-elect, was nominated for the United States senate by the joint Democratic caucus of the Ohio legislature. The election will be made complete next Wednesday. Pomerene received forty-five votes, the exact number required for the nomination. There is a probability that the forty-five represented his maximum strength. Eleven candidates in the field against him had freely predicted that he could not win, although they admitted he would easily lead on the first ballot. E. W. Hanley of Dayton, connected with several gas corporations, was Pomerene's leading competitor. He received only ten votes. This is probably accounted for by the unexpectedly large field of candidates. Their entry is said to have been encouraged by the Hanley men in order to prevent Pomerene getting enough to win on the first ballot. Votes received by others were: J. J. Lentz of Columbus, 3; J. E. Campbell of Columbus, 4; W. S. Thomas of Springfield, 1; T. T. Ansberry of Defiance, 5; M. A. Daugherty of Lancaster, 5; James Kilbourne of Columbus, 3; D. D. Donovan of Napoleon, 4; O. H. Hughes of Hillsboro, 2; T. E. Powell of Columbus, 1; C. C. Anderson of Fostoria, 5.

The selection of Pomerene was largely brought about by the action of the Cuyahoga delegation in entering the caucus, although a few weeks ago it was announced they would not. Pomerene addressed the legislators after the caucus and declared that had he not believed the people preferred him above other candidates, he would not accept. His term as senator begins March 4.

HAS HAD ENOUGH

Leslie Combs Wants to Return to His Old Kentucky Home.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Leslie Combs has tendered his resignation as minister to Peru. For some time Mr. Combs has desired to relinquish his post and return to his home in Kentucky. His resignation has been accepted, and will take effect upon the qualification of his successor, which probably will be late in April. Mr. Combs has been in the diplomatic service since 1902, when he was appointed minister to Guatemala and Honduras. Four years later he was transferred to the post at Peru.

MYSTERIOUS ATTACK

Bedford Telephone Operator Shot at by Strange Man.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 6.—A man whose identity is unknown attacked Miss Grace Ard, a young woman employed as an operator at the Central Union telephone office, as she was on her way home. When she escaped him he shot several times at her, and the noise of the shooting drew nearby residents to her aid. Two weeks ago Miss Ard was attacked, probably by the same man, as she was passing a dark alley, but she managed to break loose. She screamed as she ran, and the man did not pursue her.

Postal Banks Make a Hit.

Princeton, Ind., Jan. 6.—The Princeton postal savings bank is doing a nice business, the clerk being kept busy caring for depositors, while many school children and women are buying the savings cards and stamps. That the new institution will be a success there is now scarcely a doubt. A number of farmers were among the depositors.

Keeps New Governor Out.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 6.—The deadlock in the Tennessee legislature continues and no business is being transacted by either house. As long as the deadlock continues Ben W. Hooper, governor-elect, cannot be sworn in and Governor Patterson continues in office.

Headache Tablets Kill.

Washington, Ind., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Clara Kemball, aged forty, took headache tablets at short intervals until she had taken five, then she became unconscious and death resulted in a short time.

Killed by Streetcar.

Indianapolis, Jan. 6.—Joseph E. Kerr of Lafayette is dead at the city hospital from injuries he received by being struck by a work car belonging to the streetcar company.

River Navigation Menaced.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 6.—The Ohio river here is rising rapidly. It is full of heavy, floating ice, which is menacing navigation.

Rheumatism Comes From Bad Kidneys

Once Your Kidneys Work Properly, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and Bladder Trouble Disappear. How To Cure Yourself.

It is no longer necessary to spend months and months undergoing a complicated treatment for rheumatism, kidney or bladder trouble, or spend a good many dollars in doctors' bills.

A new treatment can now be obtained which seems to act more like a marvel than a medicine. This treatment has produced such satisfactory results in a short time that it is now guaranteed from first to last.

There should be no more doubt about the rapid cure of rheumatism, no fears of the fatal termination of treacherous kidney disease or dropsy.

Rheumatism means nothing more nor less than that your kidneys do not work properly. Your blood passes through the kidneys hundreds of times a day to be filtered and purified. When the kidneys are weak, the poisons are not taken out of the blood as they should be. This leads to various diseases, such as rheumatism, terrible Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy and bladder trouble.

The new guaranteed treatment is Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills. One day's use of them will prove their remarkable effect. M. T. Ridenour of Lima, Ohio, says: "When I feel bad in my back, I just take a couple of Derby's Kidney Pills and get immediate relief."

If you have rheumatism anywhere, back pains, cloudy, foul urine, pains in the bladder, Bright's disease or diabetes, put your whole confidence in Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and you will not be disappointed.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold at all drug stores—60 pills—10 days' treatment—25 cents, or we will send them direct from the laboratory of Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich., prepaid if you wish. If you want to try them first, just tell your druggist to give you a free sample package.

HOOSIER SOLONS MEAN BUSINESS

A Disposition To Expedite Assembly's Affairs

BRIEF SESSION HELD TODAY

The Legislative Appropriation Bill Was Put on the Ways, It Being Necessary to Push This Through as a Means of Providing For Expenses of the Session—Job Hunters Disappointed, Appointments Not Being Announced.

Indianapolis, Jan. 6.—In both houses of the general assembly today there were brief sessions, the various committees not yet being in a position to set in motion all parts of the somewhat complicated legislative machinery. The chief business of the day was the introduction of the legislative appropriation bill, carrying something over $100,000. This bill is always pushed to completion early in the session, as upon it depends the money for carrying on the expenses of the assembly.

Meanwhile the job hunters, who thronged the corridors and the space about the railings in the two houses, will be compelled to wait until Monday for the official announcement of appointments.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of both houses to expedite business as much as possible and to cut out many nonessentials which only serve to cumber the affairs of the assembly with the result that the closing days of the session are usually crowded to the point of confusion. With his last session's experience, Lieutenant Governor Hall promises to make a vigorous president of the senate, while Speaker Veneman seems to be competent to push things in the house. In accepting the gavel yesterday the speaker referred to the fact that it had been a great many years since the legislative and executive departments of government had been intrusted at one and the same time to the Democratic party, and said, amid cheers, that he believed that it was very largely due to the favor in which Governor Thomas R. Marshall was held by the people of the state that such trust had been conveyed.

HOME ENDORSEMENT Hundreds of Rushville Citizens Can Hardly Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Rushville people, should be evidenced beyond dispute for every Rushville reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following.

W. H. Hudson, 1015 North Harrison street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I hold a very high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills although I have never used them myself. About six years ago when living in Vernon, Ky., a member of my family was annoyed by pains across the small of the back and other symptoms of kidney complaint. At that time I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply. They acted just as represented and in a short time their use brought entire relief. I have unlimited faith in the curative powers of Doan's Kidney Pills and do not hesitate to give them my endorsement."

Speaker's Province Not to Dictate.

He said it was the duty of the legislators in both houses to give the people what they evidently, by their votes, desired, the full measure of benefit from the administration of the governor in whom they found the mainspring of trust in the party. He said he did not believe it to be the province of the speaker to dictate or control what legislation should be considered, but to receive and direct such proposed legislation as is advanced. He greeted the minority and promised them that they would receive as fair treatment at his hands as if they were sitting on the other side, and assured them his co-operation in the advancement of all good and needed legislation.

The governor's message received close attention, particularly when he took up some of the leading issues that are to come before the session. He mentioned county option and told the legislators to stick to the party platform principles on this and other questions. A considerable part of his message was taken up with suggestions as to changes in the corporation laws of the state and recommendations were given on many other subjects. Many of the points raised by the governor have attracted much comment and have evidently "soaked in." For instance:

"If personal interest be permitted to thwart the public will you will be justly condemned."

"If log rolling and swapping of votes be allowed to pass pet measures you will be charged very justly as being spoilsmen, rather than legislators."

"If you are wise you will avoid the appearance of evil."

"By way of warning let me suggest that your constitutional immunity from arrest does not mean that bribery shall go unpunished."

"Beware of the man who wishes to show you a good time the day after he has been introduced to you. He has an ax to grind and he intends to chop his own wood with it."

"I prefer a few reforms which disclose your deliberate judgment than a large number of crude and undigested statutory enactments."

"The unit of reform or regeneration is the individual man. This reform or regeneration to be permanent must be accomplished through the workings of a higher law than any state can enact."

"Therefore, when the state has preserved to its citizenship the right of local self-government upon the question of the sale of intoxicating liquor, its only other duty to its citizens is to strictly regulate the liquor traffic, and it has not faithfully discharged its duty until it has done so."

"Justice to the public warrants me in saying that just now we should give the people a chance to lift some of these local burdens from their shoulders before we increase state taxation."

"A people is not wise which mortgages posterity for present luxury."

"New boards and commissions should be shunned and the strictest economy should be practiced."

DO YOU GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH?

Every day buying is becoming more of a science. To buy the right kind of goods at the right prices requires discrimination and care—anyone can rush out and buy any old kind of goods from the first dealer he finds.

Some people fail to get the most for their money when it comes to buying their supplies, but are very particular about unimportant matters.

A great help in this direction are the advertisements of the merchants.

Before visiting the stores one can make the task comparatively easy by securing a great deal of information from the announcements of the dealers.

Then shopping can be more intelligently done.

A dealer's sins will sooner or later find him out if he makes a misstatement in his advertisement, and you may depend upon it that he can not keep it up for any great length of time.

It will lose him trade.

The dealer can not afford to misrepresent. He tells the public exactly what he has to sell and explains in honest terms the value of his goods. He is worthy of your confidence and can be depended upon implicitly. This dealer regularly makes his announcements through the columns of the newspapers.

Advertising is the searchlight which reveals true character and only the truth alone can stand regular advertising.

It will pay you to read the advertisements.

When Senator Shively begins his assault on the Lorimer report, Senator Lorimer will have a fine chance to come back by laying before the senate the charge of Senator Shively's prospective colleague, Mr. Kern, that Senator Shively's election as senator was procured by the brewery interests by the purchase of eight votes of members of the legislature, and demand an investigation, says the Marion Chronicle. Mr. Kern made the charge of corruption in connection with Shively's election openly, they have never been taken back by Kern or denied by Shively, and if no one in the Indiana delegation is sufficiently interested in the good name of the State to cause an investigation to be made, Senator Lorimer ought to force the issue. It will not do to let the Senate understand that we are sensitive with respect to bribery in other States, but are indifferent to it when it is committed by the powerful brewery interests of Indiana.

Some fellow's New Years resolutions were delayed a few days, notably because they used a hot towel to draw them out.

"Never again" is the same old cry on the dark brown morning after, when he awakens with a dull gray taste.

It is with reluctance that we let loose of 1910. Great little year 1910.

In an editorial in Puck on college professors, the writer takes occasion to take a little rap at Kokomo. That reminds us that there must have been something to give rise to that oft-repeated phrase, "Were you ever in Kokomo?"

In a county not far distant a guardian has been appointed for a man who persists in climbing trees. That, we believe, is taking from a free man of these United States an inherent right, which he has always held to be one handed down to him by the constitution of the country—the right to take to the tall timbers.

A statesman who can gain popularity by his own personality may resort to that old trite method—refuse to wear a dress suit and ride in a cab

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace management will offer a Lubin film tonight entitled, "An American Count." The picture is a comedy in which a young American takes the leading role. Infatuated by an alleged nobleman, an American girl loses her senses and will not listen to her father who favors the young man of her own country. The father and the American lover conceive a rather unique plan by which they thwart the girl and win for America. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will show tonight, besides the usual big double program of two reels of pictures, a special vaudeville attraction, Buster Brown and his dog Tige. The attraction is said to be a very unique one and one that will please the little folks especially. The first picture is a Thanhouser, "A Winter's Tale," which is a reproduction that famous poem of the same name by Shakespeare. The other film, "The Distraction of Foolhead," an Italia, is a comedy of rare proportions for producing a laugh. A new illustrated song will be sung.

At English's opera house on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 10 and 11, Henrietta Crosman will be seen in her new comedy, "Anti-Matrimony." Miss Crosman brings a notable company of metropolitan players, who appeared with her at the Garrick Theater, New York. Miss Crosman (in "real life" Mrs. Monica Campbell) is considered one of the most versatile actresses on the American stage. She was born in Wheeling, W. Va., in 1865, and made her stage debut in 1883 in "The White Slave." She drifted, so to speak, then for many years, fairly successful but never having discovered a suitable vehicle to display her talent. At last, however, in 1900, came "Mistress Nell," in which she played Nell Gwynno, and in this part she scored her first real hit and began her career as a star. Since that time she has risen rapidly until now she is in the front rank of the profession she has loved and worked for so long. She will be remembered as last seen here in "Sham" last season.

WOULD REDUCE EXAMINER'S PAY

Two Legislators in Body in Session in Indianapolis Propose Introduction of Bills.

TO AMEND ACCOUNTING LAW

Believe Field Examiners Are Paid Too Much and Are Prone to Foster Such a Job.

Representative-elect Valentine D. Ault of Ogilville, Bartholomew county, is one of the hundreds of representatives who took their seats in the State house of representatives yesterday with the expectation of making somewhat of a noise. He had his pockets bulging out with prospective measures when he left Columbus, each one with a special meaning attached. Only one of them, however, was his own product, and that is not entirely complete.

The solitary bill which Representative Ault proposes to introduce into the legislature will have to do with the State Board of Accounts and if passed will amend the bill which provided for the board. The bill seeks to reduce the salary of field examiners from $10 to $6 per day and to take the prosecution made necessary by the field examiners out of the hands of the attorney general and place them in the hands of the counties in which the prosecutions are found necessary.

According to the Indianapolis Star Senator Tilden of Greencastle, representing Marion, Morgan and Putnam counties, has such a bill in his noddle. He will endeavor to have passed at the present session of the Legislature a bill to reduce the expenses of the operation of the public accounting law. Senator Tilden said he would like to see all field examiners placed on a salary basis and kept busy all the time, instead of having them working only part of the time at $10 a day each.

Senator Tilden says two examiners went over the books in some of the county offices in his district, incurring an expense of $800, and finding a discrepancy of about $30 on the books. According to Senator Tilden the examiners were paid at the rate of $10 a day, each, a part of their work being to count the number of words in mortgages to determine whether or not extra fees were received by the recorder. Under the law a recorder receives a stated fee for making record of mortgages containing a certain number of words, and additional fees for additional words.

"Most recorders just estimate the number of words, and do not bother about counting them," said Senator Tilden. When the examiners were looking over the books in Putnam county they counted every word in all deeds and mortgages to determine to a cent to just what fees the recorder was entitled. I do not say that any of these examiners purposely remained longer than was necessary, but I believe it is human nature for a man to foster a job that pays $10 a day."

Senator Tilden said he would like to see the number of field examiners reduced from 100 to 50 and to amend the present provisions so that only one examiner would be sent to an office instead of two, as is the custom under the present arrangement. He said he did not desire to see the bipartisan feature of the present law repealed.

Excursion to Roswell, Pecos Valley, N. M.

Tuesday, January 17th, 1910

Leaving Rushville at 10:52 over the C. H. & D. via St. Louis and Kansas City, reaching Roswell, N. M., Thursday evening at 5:00 o'clock.

As Gold was the strong, ever pulling magnet which sent the first Americans across the unknown wastes of this continent to sunny California in 1849. So today the apple is pulling thousands upon thousands more people from the East, the North and the South into the great fertile Pecos Valley of New Mexico.

You no doubt saw the exhibit of Oregon and Montana land products this last few days, but do you know that the Pecos Valley produces even finer and more high grade apples, fruit and alfalfa than any you saw. They took more prizes at Chicago and St. Louis than any other fruit section. The call of the west comes today insistent and inviting. Formerly it was the "Call of the Wild" a voice from out a vast wilderness of mountains, deserts and plains. The Iron Horse has conquered distance and the barriers long interposed by vast spaces of waterless desert have been thrown down. Irrigation canals long enough to girdle the Globe with triple bands have spread wide oasis of green in the arid places. Cheerful, prosperous and happy communities dot a landscape once vacant and voiceless.

Come and go with our excursion, Tuesday, January 17th, and see this new land. Take a well deserved vacation and come with me to a land of sunshine and warm pleasant days, where you can work the year round and really enjoy life. January 17th will be the next big excursion.. Write or telephone me at once, so I can make room for you.

Indiana Railroad Commission and Traction Representatives From Over State Hold Conference.

CHARLES HENRY IS PRESENT

Double Precaution Must be Taken by Interurban Men Receiving Verbal Instructions From Dispatchers.

The Railroad Commission of Indiana and the interurban operators, in conference yesterday, reached an agreement concerning the use of the double order system, deferred to a later date, consideration of the installation of block signals, and adjourned with no common understanding about what is to be done concerning the adoption of the one-year term of service for motormen and conductors, says the Indianapolis Star.

The committee on length of service, made up of Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C.; W. G. Irwin of the I. C. & C.; C. E. Morgan, general manager of the Ben Hur, and H. A. Nichol of the I. U. T., reported that it was unwilling to accede to the recommendations of the commission submitted early last fall. The commission insisted that the recommendations would not be withdrawn and a final settlement of the issue appeared to be as far away at the conclusion of the meeting as when the recommendations first were proposed.

The committee appointed to report on block signals stated that it had not had sufficient time to make a complete investigation of the different kinds of block signals in use and asked for the privilege of making a report at a later date. The committee will make a final report January 24. In the meantime it will inspect systems used in other States. The members are Arthur W. Brady, president of the I. U. T.; C. N. Wilcox, general manager of the C. L. S. & S. B.; Robert I. Todd, vice president of the T. H. I. & E., and C. D. Emmons, general manager of the Ft. W. & W. V.

The committee on the double order system made a complete report to the commission. It was adopted. It prescribes the manner of making reports to the dispatcher in a lengthy report.

In submitting the report the members of the committee asserted that they believed the system practically would eliminate the confusion of orders which has resulted in serious interurban accidents. The members of the committee are Alexander Shane, general manager of the I. C. & S.; G. A. Jeffries of the Fort Wayne and West Virginia and George S. Henry of the I. & C.

CHAPTER XVII.

A State of Siege.

Cayley's discovery of the tracks furnished the last element of the drama which was to play itself out that winter upon this stage which had been so strangely set for it. It was just three days since, flying slowly northward before a mild southerly breeze, the ice pack below him, he caught his first glimpse of the unknown land where Captain Fielding had met his tragic fate so many years before. Three days since he had witnessed, from aloft, the murder of a man he might have saved, the man to whom, had he saved him, he might have turned for exoneration from a stain upon his name which was now ineradicable.

Three days ago he had thought his world was empty, swept clean of human concern and human affection. Three days ago he had not known that Jeanne Fielding existed.

As for the identity of the monster who had left the proof of his existence in those tracks which Philip had discovered in the snow, they of course had no certain knowledge; nevertheless, they entertained but little doubt that he was Roscoe himself. The footprints were immense, Cayley said, and their distance apart bespoke the stride of a giant.

If it were Roscoe who had been crouching there behind the boulder, then it seemed to them unlikely that he was here alone; unlikely that he had not at least two or three of his crew with him.

That idea, when it first occurred to them, brought little added terror with it. The person of the monstrous murderous ruffian, who was the chief, dwarfed his subordinates to pygmies. Yet when they came to think over the situation, reasonably, this uncertainty as to the number of their enemy proved a vital element in it. It put an unequivocal veto upon Cayley's first plan, which was to start out at once and take the aggressive against their enemy, before he should have time to move against them.

This bit of beach where the hut stood was practically fortified. The cliff behind it was absolutely sheer, and was capped with deep, perpetual snow. Half a mile to the westward was the promontory, and about half a mile up the beach from the hut, to the eastward, the glacier projected its ice masses in a long lunge out to seaward. This glacier provided the only practicable means of entrance to the interior valley and the ledge where the gold was.

By means of a large scale map, Cayley pointed out to Jeanne this advantage of their position. "So long as we stick to this bit of beach," he said, "we can't be rushed nor surprised. No one can attack us without either coming down the glacier at one end, or around the promontory at the other. From either direction they've got to approach without cover. Of course if there are a lot of them, we shan't have any chance. But it may be there's only one, and it's likely that there are not more than three."

"But at night," said the girl, "—at night there'll be nothing to prevent their coming as close as they please. They may be out there, not a dozen yards away."

"They're not doing much if they are. We're securely barricaded here, and they can't attempt to break in without giving us fair warning. Unless there are too many of them we should beat them at that game. No; the time to look out for them is when we're outside the hut, out on the beach doing the things we'll have to do—bringing in firewood, looking for more game, and so on."

"Shall we have to do that? Can't we just stay in here, safe?"

"The daylight will answer that question for me," he said. "We must make the most of it. A month from now there'll be but little. We mustn't make prisoners of ourselves until the winter does it for us. There is one thing, though," he added thoughtfully after a little silence, "one thing that I must do at once, and that is to destroy these sheds where they kept their stores. They would furnish a cover—as good a cover as any enemy could ask for. They hinder our view up the beach."

MODERN HAIR DRESSING

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations. This preparation, which is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

"He's Afraid," Said Jeanne, After a Little Thoughtful Silence.

"How long do you suppose it will last?" she asked, in a voice that shook a little. "How long can it last? How long can we live like that, even supposing that our watch is effective and that they aren't able to surprise us?" She clasped her hands, with a shudder, and gripped them between her knees. "Oh, if it would only happen soon," she went on, "whatever it is!"

"What I don't understand," said Cayley, "is why they haven't attacked us already. Why have they waited until we are fortified and secure? Why didn't they attack us yesterday morning when they would have found us helpless?"

"Surely," said Jeanne, "he couldn't have hoped for a better opportunity to attack me than he had when I was alone there in the twilight, before you came flying down out of the sky; and you said he was quite near. Why do you suppose he didn't? Why do you suppose he waited?"

"And even after I came down," said Cayley, "I was helpless for a minute while I was getting clear of my planes. Yes, that was his chance, and yet he waited. After we had gone, he apparently scaled the cliff, for his tracks led right up to it, and then disappeared. It's not quite so precipitously steep there as it is here, but I would hardly have dreamed that a human being could climb it."

"He's afraid," said Jeanne after a little thoughtful silence, "simply afraid. But if he's the man we think he is, it wouldn't be a human fear. It must be superstitious in some way. It wouldn't be wonderful if he felt that, after the two glimpses he had of you. I remember how I felt at first when you alighted on the ice beside me. He's seen you twice, remember. The first time at night in the fog; the second time in broad day, with the sun on your wings. No, it isn't strange if he thinks of you, not as a man at all, but as a sort of terrible angel keeping guard over me. When I go very long without seeing you, or when I see you in flight, I get to thinking of you in that way myself."

"If that's the way he thinks of me," said Cayley, "we'll try not to disabuse him. A belief like that is an item on our side of the ledger, certainly. And we haven't any such balance in our favor that we can afford to throw an advantage away, even a small one."

Really the balance of advantage between them and their enemy was amazingly even. They had the hut, the enemy the stores. They had Captain Fielding's journal, their enemy the experience and practical knowledge of the country. They were two, with but a single weapon between them. Their enemy, for aught they knew, might be one or a half a dozen; and how armed, they did not know.

Fortunately, no prophetic vision enabled them to anticipate, on that first evening, the length of time that that precarious life and death balance would maintain itself. They had agreed, Philip and Jeanne, that the only thing to do was to wait and to maintain an unwinking vigilance. But both of them thought of the duration of this wait in terms of hours, or, at most, days. Had they foreseen that it would stretch itself out into weeks and months, they might well have despaired.

There were two things that kept them from succumbing to despair. The first was that they never really permitted themselves to hope, to indulge in any thoughts of a summer's day when their horizon should be cut by the spars and funnels of a ship bringing relief. They were simply going to live one day at a time. For every day that they could snatch out of the hand of death, they would give thanks. It was the only attitude possible for people in their condition.

And the thing that helped them to maintain it was the abundance of necessary routine occupation. They divided their day into watches. Cayley slept from four o'clock in the afternoon until midnight and then kept watch alone, as the girl had done, until eight. During that period they remained inside the hut. The day, from eight until four, they spent out of doors, when the condition of the weather made this possible, either at work or merely tramping up and down for exercise.

At first there was a good deal of work to do. Tearing down the sheds which clustered about the hut, and reducing their frames and planking to firewood was an arduous task, but he worked at it until it was done, Jeanne standing sentinel all the time.

When it was done, they were practically secure against surprise, for from their windows, with the aid of a field-glass which Cayley had found in the observatory, they were able to sweep the whole beach absolutely clean, in both directions.

And almost every day while the light lasted, with Jeanne, armed with the revolver, keeping watch before the hut, Cayley took to his wings and patrolled the beach, from the glacier to the promontory, high up above the level of the crest of the cliff. His flight was always along the same track. He never winged his way inland nor out to sea.

There were two reasons for this. He dared not go so far away from Jeanne that a flash and a swoop would not bring him to her side. The other reason was, that if a superstitious fear of this great man-bird were really what deterred their enemy from attacking them, it was well to let him believe that immunity from this portent could be secured by keeping away from this particular stretch of beach.

As the shortening days sped by and began to get themselves reckoned into weeks, the conviction grew upon Philip and Jeanne that their securest protection lay in their wings, in the terrorizing effect upon their invisible, silent enemy of the majestic winged apparition which was so often seen soaring in midsky above the hut and the little stretch of beach surrounding it. Something was protecting them evidently. Almost every week brought some evidence, not only of the existence but the nearness of their enemy. They never actually caught sight or sound of him, but some times when the wind blew from the right quarter they could make out, with their field-glass, a wrack of brownish smoke, such as would be given off by burning whale oil, drifting down from somewhere along the glacier, and made visible by the dazzling whiteness of that background.

And sometimes they saw track in the newly fallen snow, never coming very near the hut, but trespassing a little way, either down from the glacier or up from the headland, upon the stretch of beach they were defending. They never found the tracks of more than a single man, and these were always the same. So that they came to believe, although they could not know, that they had only one man to deal with.

They sometimes speculated on the question whether he was Roscoe or some other member of the Walrus crew; really, in fact, they found it impossible to hope that it was any other than he.

They got proof of his identity, or what amounted to it, along toward the end of October. Cayley's keen eyes caught, one day, from up aloft where he was soaring, the glint of something on the beach near the foot of the headland. He circled down in a long swoop, caught it up without alighting and mounted into the air, a trick of aeronautics which made Jeanne, accustomed as she was by now to seeing him in flight, catch her breath a little.

When he descended and alighted beside her a few moments later, he showed her a sheath knife, the haft of which was a rudely carved walrus tusk. The hand of the last user of it had had blood upon it, and its imprint upon the surface of the ivory was plainly to be seen. The lines in the palm were traceable and, lengthwise, along the side of the handle, the print of an immense thumb.

"You see," said Cayley quietly, "he was using this knife left-handed."

The girl paled a little as she handed the weapon back to him, but she spoke quietly enough:

"It's good to know," she said, "almost a relief."

Dressed as a workingman and carrying a bucket filled with a mysterious compound, a Paris burglar has been in the habit of calling at flats, saying that he had come by the landlord's orders to disinfect the place. During the operation such an unpleasant smell was emitted that the tenant hastily decamped to the room fartherest removed from the scene of "disinfection," leaving the coast clear for the burglar.

TWO TOWNS HAVE BEEN ENGULFED

Horrid Details of Earthquake In Turkestan.

LAKE OCCUPIES SITE OF CITY

With Its Ten Thousand Inhabitants the City of Prjevalsk Was Swallowed Up and the Waters of Lake Issik Kul Poured Into Giant Chasm—Pijpek, With Its Six Thousand Inhabitants, Also Reported Engulfed.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—Reports reaching the newspapers here continually magnify the disaster, though authenticated accounts of the earthquake in Russian Turkestan Wednesday are still lacking. It is stated that the town of Prjevalsk, near Lake Issik Kul, sank with all its inhabitants, 10,000 of whom were killed. A new lake now occupies the site of the town. Pijpek, on the river Chu, is also reported to have been engulfed with a large part of its 6,000 inhabitants. The destruction of the few telegraph lines in that region prevents verification of the reports or the obtaining of details.

Undoubtedly the shock was very violent. It is supposed to have extended for 800 miles east and west.

THE ELKINS VACANCY

Governor Glasscock Will Probably Leave It to Assembly to Fill.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 6.—Governor Glasscock refuses to give any indication of his action in regard to the senatorial vacancy caused by the death of Senator Elkins. Under the law the governor has the right to name someone to fill the term until the legislature meets, but this body assembles next week. It is considered probable in view of this fact that no one may be named by the governor. Mr. Glasscock declines to discuss the matter in any way.

The flags on all state buildings were ordered at half mast. In spite of the governor's silence as to whether or not he will name anyone, various persons have been suggested as probable recipients of the honor. Among the names heard is Isaac T. Mann of Bramwell and Congressman Joseph Gaines.

There is a suggested coincidence in the death of Senator Elkins. In 1893, the day before the legislature met, Senator Kenna died. A fight for a seat was being waged between Camden and Faulkner, and the death of Kenna created a second vacancy, both were elected.

HE STILL INSISTS

Mr. Rainey Determined to Bring Out Roosevelt's Railway Bills.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Representative Rainey of Illinois offered a resolution in the house several weeks ago providing in a general way for an inquiry into the cost of Mr. Roosevelt's travels while he was president and calling for information as to whether Roosevelt paid his own expenses on such trips and if any unpaid bills on this account were held against the railroads. Yesterday Mr. Rainey submitted another resolution providing for the creation of a congressional committee of five to make the proposed investigation. The committee is authorized to make inquiries of Mr. Roosevelt's relations with all railroads in the matter of travel, but specifically names the Pennsylvania, the Northern Pacific and the Southern roads.

May Be Body of Grace.

Christiania, Jan. 6.—The body of a young man was washed ashore on the beach at Hangesund, Norway. The clothing was apparently that of an aviator, but the description of it does not tally with that worn by Cecil Grace.

Not Guilty of Murder.

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 6.—The jury in the case of Henry Cotterman, charged with the murder of James T. Brown in 1908, returned a verdict of not guilty.

The Washington-Alaska bank at Fairbanks, with deposits of $1,000,000, has failed and a receiver has been appointed. It is expected that the creditors will receive 50 cents on the dollar.

GERMS IN HER SYSTEM

Every Woman Should Read This Advice and the Generous Offer That Goes With It.

The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman can not be well if there is a trace of catarrh in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give satisfaction, or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding no woman should hesitate to elieve our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to overcome catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh in general is a diseased condition of the system that shows locally most frequently in discharges from mucous membranes. Local treatment should be assisted by internal treatment for the general diseased condition if a complete cure is to be reached. That internal treatment should be scientifically devised and faithfully administered.

Rextill Mucu-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made catarrh his specialty. This remedy is admirably adapted to the treatment of the catarrhal ailments of women. It purifies and enriches the blood, tends to stop mucous discharges, aids in removing purities from the system, soothes, heals and strengthens the mucous tissues and brings about a feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Rextill Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefited or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Rextill Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rextill Remedies only at The Rexall Store. Thos. W. Lytle.

GUMPTION ON THE FARM

"Who pays the taxes?" asks Wallace Farmer. So far as we have been able to discover pretty nearly everybody pays. The tax collector is as relentless as death, and few are able to side-step him.

Do not track mud into the house. Provide a scraper and mat outside the door, and do not forget them before going into the house. Scrubbing floors and sweeping carpets are not easy tasks, and the thoughtful man will not add to his wife's burdens.

BANKER DENIES AGED COUPLE ARE PARENTS

Interesting Development In the Robin Case.

New York, Jan. 6.—Joseph G. Robin was taken from the Tombs to confront Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rabinovitch of Brooklyn, the aged Jewish couple who have said that they were the parents of the indicted banker. Robin admitted that he knew them, but denied that they were his parents. The only remark he addressed to either of them was when Mrs. Rabinovitch began to cry after saying that Robin was her son. He said: "What the hell are you trying to do?" Dr. Louise Rabinovitch, Robin's sister, also denied that Mr. and Mrs. Rabinovitch are his parents. She said it was possible she had met them before. The district attorney's object in the proceeding was to obtain evidence in connection with Dr. Louise Rabinovitch's affidavit, made when she applied to the supreme court to have her brother adjudged incompetent, that she and her brother, Edward L. Robinson, are Robin's only next of kin.

Robin told Mr. Whitman that he had not seen his parents since he was six years old, but believed they were living somewhere in Russia.

BOY SAVED BY DOG

An Illinois Collie Deserving a Carnegie Hero Medal.

Carlyle, Ill., Jan. 6.—Dr. A. M. Keith of Greenville owns a Scotch collie dog that is entitled to a Carnegie hero medal. Francis Cox, eight years old, was skating on a pond near the home of his parents when the ice broke and he fell into the water. His calls for help were answered by the collie. The dog ran to the bank of the pond, seemed to realize the peril of the boy, and plunged into the water. Taking hold of the back of young Cox's coat he towed him to a place where he could reach the bank. The owner of the dog refused to sell it to the father of the boy at a fancy price.

TRUE BILLS AGAINST ALLEGED DYNAMITERS

Twenty-Two Accused of Blowing Up Los Angeles Times.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—Twenty-two indictments have been returned by the grand jury in connection with the Los Angeles Times explosion in October, but the names have not been made public. All indictments charge murder or a connection with the crime that caused the death of twenty-one employees of the Times. It is understood that the men who bought dynamite in San Francisco, as well as a number of Frisco labor leaders who came here and incited the local unions to engage in a general strike are among those indicted. The grand jury was instructed by the presiding judge to investigate dynamiting of the Llewellyn Iron works on Dec. 25.

Wickersham Is Confident.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Attorney General Wickersham, who is directing every move in the case against the National Packing company, usually known as the beef trust, is confident that the government will be able to convict the big men now under indictment and that prison sentences will be imposed and enforced.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Fifteen persons were killed and forty or fifty others were injured in the wreck of a passenger train near Nathcart, Cape Colony.

Two masked bandits entered the office of the Angelus hotel at El Paso, Tex., and robbed the safe of about $5,000 in cash and jewelry.

Anna Stadelmyer pleaded guilty in the county court at Buffalo to killing her one-day-old baby by stuffing its mouth and throat full of cinders.

Robert P. Bass, thirty-seven years of age, the youngest executive the state has ever had, has been inaugurated governor of New Hampshire.

Cardinal Francesco Segna, prefect of the congregation of the index expurgatorius, is dead at Rome. He was born in 1836 and created a cardinal in 1894.

Secretary of War Dickinson asks that an appropriation of $750,000 be made available for the equipment of state militia organizations with field artillery.

King Alfonso has sailed for Melilla on the royal yacht Giralos. He was accompanied by a large retinue, including Prime Minister Canalejas and the minister of war.

Gallagher, the man who shot and seriously wounded Mayor Gaynor of New York, has been sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment at hard labor in the state prison.

Mrs. Nelson Swanson of Virginia, Minn., killed herself and her two small boys, aged nine and eight. The woman's act is believed to have been induced by brooding over going to a hospital for an operation.

A resolution proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people has been introduced in the house by Representative Hawley of Oregon.

The secretary of war asks for an appropriation of $1,750,000 to enable the government to relocate the line of the railroad crossing the Isthmus of Panama, which has been put of commission by the slides incident to the work on the Culebra cut.

INSTITUTES TO CLOSE SATURDAY

Today's Session in Court House Assembly Room Was Best Attended One of Week.

GREAT PLANS AT MANILLA

Joe P. Prigg Says Here Soil Fertility is Question of Vital Interest to Farmers.

The week of farmers institutes in Rush county will close tomorrow with the last day's session in the court house assembly room. An attractive program has been prepared for both sessions, one of which will be especially for women, when interesting papers will be read and several musical numbers will be given.

The first session of the Rush county farmers institute in the court house here today was well attended. In fact, the crowd was better than it has been any day this week, largely due to the excellent weather conditions. The address by Joe P. Prigg, president of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association, this morning on the subject, "Barnyard and Green Manures" was very instructive.

Mr. Prigg said that soil fertility is one of vital question the farmers have to solve. A better soil means more to the acre and better quality. In the course of his remarks he gave some valuable information to the farmers about the value of barnyard manures. Mr. Prigg said the farmers in general did not recognize the value of this kind of fertilizer.

The Manilla institute yesterday was one of the attractive ones of the week by reason of the prizes offered. Joseph R. Overstreet of Johnson county, acted as judge. Shelby county farmers carried off most of the honors. Carey Phares of Union township, Shelby county, took first on the best ten ears of corn; first on best individual ear and first on sweepstakes. Bird Fair of the same township took second premium on the ten ears and John Lew Baker also of the same township, took first premium on potatoes.

It was decided at Manilla yesterday that a three days' combined corn show and institute should be held next year at the time of the regular institute. The promoters organized yesterday and solicited names for the next event. At the closing session, it is planned to bring a corn expert there to lecture.

At the close of the session yesterday the following officers were elected for the next year: C. C. Cotton, president; Russell Pitts, secretary, and J. O. Gunning, treasurer.

"THE HOME FOR SAVINGS"

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Begins Tuesday, January 3d and Closes Saturday, January 14th

It is impossible to judge exactly in advance the amount of goods we can sell in a season, consequently we find our stock overcrowded in some departments. As we have determined not to carry over goods from one season to another but to always have a new, clean supply of up-to-date merchandise for each season, we have gone through our stock and in departments where we are overcrowded we priced everything so low that it will need no argument to convince you that you cannot afford to miss this opportunity to save yourself money by buying these goods at prices quoted below. Because of the very low price on these articles, everything is strictly cash.
